When I was six, I wanted to be Batman. However, when I found out he wasn't real, I decided I wanted to become an actor so I could play Batman. Many years later, I've spent my whole life focused on acting and filmmaking, learning everything I can about the craft. I've worked in the film industry in almost every department—just to get on set and be apart of the magic being made. in my free time, I compose music and write scripts. I own a small production company where I do a lot of stunt work and visual effects. Acting isn't just my passion—it's my whole life.
