I have been a BBC Radio broadcaster since October 2000 at BBC Radio Sussex and was also a travel news presenter on BBC Radio 2 for many years.

I'm currently presenting a new TV series about disused railways, called "Tracing the Rails".

I also work part time in the construction industry, and have considerable experience in house building, which was my family business.

I'm an on screen decorator on BBC1's Interior Design Masters with Alan Carr.

I'm in to fitness, notably weight training. I was a Police Officer in Sussex Police in the 90s and now volunteer for them as a Police Cadet Leader.
