Andrew is a seasoned British actor based in Greater London and Kent, known for his commanding stage presence and rich character work. At 6 feet 1 inch (185.4 cm) and with a playing age of 55 to 65, Andrew brings gravitas, wit, and versatility to every role. His white British heritage and authentic American-Southern States accent—alongside high-standard American and English dialects—allow him to inhabit a wide range of characters with ease. From Feature Films to playing Santa - his scope is wide.

Recent credits include Teddy Deakin in Ghost Train (Trinity Theatre Club, 2025), Waylon in Rapunzel (Borough Green and Platt Players, 2025), and Gaston in Beauty and the Beast (Chip Productions, 2025). Andrew's flair for eccentric and larger-than-life roles shines in performances such as Sir Harvey Bristol Karim in One Night in Shanghai (2023), Felix Waterford in Truffle at Mill (2023), and the Genie in Alladin (2019). Earlier standout roles include Wacky Gangster Dog in Catastrophie at 47a (2018), showcasing his comedic timing and physical theatre skills.

A highly skilled storyteller and voice-over artist with a home studio, Andrew excels in comedy, presenting, and character work. His musical talents include ukulele and guitar, and he's a trained barber—adding authenticity to period and working-class roles. Physically adept, he's skilled in swimming and weightlifting, and holds a full car driving licence.

Andrew Kuipers is a vibrant, reliable, and multi-talented performer whose blend of creative discipline, physical prowess, and comedic instinct makes him a valuable asset to any production. - EU Passport
